ABOUT ME

Hello! I'm Akshay Gohel, a 6th-semester BCA student at Gyanmanjari Innovative University (GMIU) with Honors in Mobile Application Development. I'm passionate about technology and enjoy building simple, fast, and user-friendly digital solutions.

I have a strong interest in Web Development and experience in creating responsive websites. I also have knowledge of PHP for backend development and understand the basics of SEO to improve website visibility. Along with web development, I have learned Android App Development using Android Studio (Java) and gained practical experience in mobile app design and development.
